LIVING THE MISSION IN THE POLICE FORCE

Chief Wilkinson shakes hands with a young boy who donated to a community fundraising project.

The crazed man was breaking windows in his house, screaming at me and the rest of the SWAT team who had surrounded the home. More disturbingly, he came out the back door with a shotgun in his hand. I was just a few yards away, sending up prayers for everyone's safety.

Most of my experiences in 28 years of policing have vanished from memory. But some, like the man with the shotgun, stick out. I've always felt I was called to this career – like God wanted me to be there for people in crisis. I've delivered my share of babies and death notifications. I've both succeeded and failed in my attempts to save lives. I hope I have made a difference.

In the latter half of my career I have been in administrative roles. Now when a critical call comes in, I let the officers do the work they are skilled at, and I look for the person who needs a hand to hold, a shoulder to cry on, or just an ear that will listen.

Sometimes that person is an officer. I can't count the number of times I've had strong, confident officers in my office breaking down in tears over a difficult issue. I am honored to know they trust me with their deepest concerns.

Each day before work I pray for four things: Wisdom to make good decisions, diligence to get much accomplished, compassion to care for the heart of each person, and humility to accept responsibility for errors, yet giving credit to others for our successes. And each night I pray for safety. God has always answered that prayer, just as He did that night I faced a crazed shotgun-wielding man.

MEET OUR SPEAKERS
ROSCOE J. HOWARD

First Weekend Speaker
 Roscoe J. Howard III is vice president of mission and ministries for Adventist Health System. In this role, Howard provides leadership in the areas of diversity and unity, refines mission opportunities throughout the 43 campuses, and bridges collaboration between Adventist Health System and the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

His passion is empowering young adults as both strategists and participants. His leadership vision is facilitating a unified spirit of "selfless service for the Savior" among members of different ages, genders, ethnicities and socio-economic backgrounds.

While attending Oakwood College in Huntsville, Alabama, Howard met his wife-to-be, Osceola. They have two adult children, Heather and Seth.

About "Living the Mission"
 The mission of the SDA Church is to proclaim to all peoples the everlasting gospel in the context of the Three Angels' messages of Revelation 14:6-12, leading them to accept Jesus as their personal Savior and to unite with His church, and nurturing them in preparation for His soon return. "Living the Mission" refers to the practical ways we accomplish this goal, especially in day-to-day activities of life.

Camp Meeting Preparation
 "Here is a work for families to engage in before coming up to our holy convocations. Let the preparation for eating and dressing be a secondary matter, but let deep heart searching commence at home. Pray three times a day, and, like Jacob, be importunate. At home is the place to find Jesus; then take Him with you to the meeting, and how precious will be the hours you spend there."

BIBLE ENIGMA 1

A spectacle fair is my birth in the sky/Quenched is the cold, barren earth where I die/My color, my form is a sight - call it lace/If your record of wrong looks like me, call it grace.

Kevin Wilkinson

BIBLE ENIGMA 2

The longest name in the Bible: I gave that to my son/66 chapters of 66 books: I wrote every one/I served one of the best kings around, and possibly one of the worst/"make straight the way," John cried to the crowds. But I know he wasn't the first.

Prayer Walk for Camp Meeting
 Several people walked the camp grounds on Friday and pled for the Holy Spirit's presence during our camp meeting this year.

Phone Prayer Partners
 Pat and I call and pray over the phone every morning between 5 and 6 am. It started three years ago at camp meeting when Pat lost her prayer partner. We've been praying ever since.

We pray for friends with cancer, missionary friends, church and school leaders and our nation. We also pray for ourselves, our husbands, and our children to grow in grace and have the Holy Spirit. Sometimes we even sing praises to God with each other on the phone.

We've become the best of friends and very committed to the power of prayer.

Question of the Day
WHAT COMES TO MIND WHEN YOU THINK OF "LIVING THE MISSION" IN YOUR LIFE?

Dallas Buchholz
 Being flexible. It's not always easy. There is always a mission opportunity regardless of the changes in life.

Carol Mertins
 Praying throughout the day for God to fill me with His Holy Spirit so whoever intersects with my life will be touched by Him.

Margaret LaLonde
 Doing my best to live according to God's Word and the Spirit of Prophecy without being legalistic. I want to please Jesus and not be a stumbling block to anyone.

Camp Meeting Theme Letters
 Local Wisconsin artists, Deidra Olsen and Greg Edge, designed the theme and created the "Living the Mission" logo hanging in Pioneer Pavilion. "It is a privilege to be able to use our talents for God," said Deidra.

The letters were cut by hand from one-inch foam board insulation, painted and braced with quarter-inch dowel.

Juanita Edge

Deidra Olson
 I imagine a modern-day version of Acts where we live our lives to bring people to Jesus. People would see just how amazing it is to have a friendship with Jesus.

Deb Folkman
 Right now I'm "Living the Mission" caring for my two grandkids and teaching them about Jesus.

Christine Rorabeck
 The Golden Rule for sure. When we share Jesus' love by words, actions and thoughtfulness, others learn to love the Jesus who inspires us.

New Look for Young Adults
 There is an exciting new look in the young adult division. They now meet in Cedar Lodge. Come grow closer to God through prayer, Bible Study, music, drama, and fellowship.

Those in the 19-25 age group who attend seven or more meetings will receive a free Andrews Study Bible. A free week of family camp will also be given to one lucky family!
