HYE MI'S LEGACY

I also have three wishes: 1) I want Sebin to grow in wisdom by the Word of God, 2) I want my husband to be a faithful pastor for God based on the Word of God, and 3) I hope my English will improve throughout this process. That is why I am writing from an English Bible, not Korean.

I don't know how many years it will take for me to complete my writing of the entire Bible. It is like a Korean saying that says, "Beginning is half way already."

Already I am being blessed as I experience the power of God's Word. I am so happy to have this privilege to pass on the Word of God to Sebin!

Hye Mi Gives Scripture Legacy to Her Daughter

Our precious daughter, Sebin, was born in July of 2013. I wanted to become a good mother, so I read the "Adventist Home" and "Child Guidance" by E. G. White from cover to cover. As a beginner mom, it seemed like such a big challenge to raise a newborn baby, physically and mentally.

When I was newly married, I remember reading a story about a mother who copied the Bible four times with her own hand for her daughter. The mother felt bad because she was not financially sufficient. She felt like she couldn't do as much for her daughter as other parents.

Suddenly a thought come into her mind and she told herself, "This is what I will do! I want to give, as an inheritance to my daughter, the power of the Word of God!" Then she began to copy the Bible, word for word, with her hands.

She finished her first complete copy of the Bible when her daughter entered middle school. She was at the top of her class. By the time the mother finished copying the Bible the second time, her daughter was entering high school with a full year's scholarship. By her third time writing the Bible, her daughter received another full year's scholarship from the Samsung Institution, and when the mother had finished copying the Bible for the fourth time, her daughter was entering college with another scholarship. At the end of the story, she made this appeal, "Mothers of faith, write the Bible for your children. You can trust your children to God as you write the Bible."

I do not think God blessed that mother in the story in return for what she had done. I believe there was faith in the center of the mother. She sought the true value of the Living Word, and she wanted to pass on the legacy of the living God to her daughter.

So when Sebin was born, I began to write out the Bible by hand. I do not write the Bible just so Sebin will receive scholarships and go to a good school in the future. I started writing the Bible because I sincerely want my child to grow up in the Word of God. There is no book better than the Bible to raise my child.

Sebin, my daughter, keeps me occupied the whole day. But I have a goal and have decided to devote a portion of my time to writing out God's Word every single day.

Question of the Day
THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN READING SCRIPTURE AND STUDYING SCRIPTURE IS...

Greg Taylor

Nonexistent for me. There is so much depth in God's Word that any time I read a passage, I am challenged to study it to know more about the context and connections.

Lesa Budd

Reading is an overview. Studying makes me feel like I'm searching to know how God thinks, and even catching a glimpse of how He feels.

Alan Carlson

Reading gives knowledge; studying gives wisdom.

Donate Items for Wisconsin Academy Thrift Store:

Wisconsin Academy Industries is accepting donated used items to sell in their Lighthouse Thrift Store. Drop off items at the designated truck behind the Apple Valley/ABC store from 8:00 am - 10:00 pm daily. They are collecting clothing, books, furniture, toys, housewares, electronics, tools, etc. These donations will be sold at the Thrift Store to help students earn their way through school.

Larry Lanaville

Reading Scripture is like going through a drive-through. Studying scripture will give you time to listen to God.

Nestor Soriano

Reading is understanding with the mind, while studying is understanding with the mind and committing with the heart.

Nate Skaife

Reading is to get it done, studying is allowing God to speak to you.

Steve Aust

Studying is internalizing the Word.

We're Recycling This Year

You may have noticed several green and yellow recycling bins around camp. Please use them for your plastics, glass, paper, aluminum cans, and cardboard. Other trash can still be dumped in the older trash dumpsters. You will find the recycling bins by the block bathrooms, Pavilion, Fireside Lodge cafeteria, warehouse and Apple Valley/ABC store. Thank you for your help in taking care of God's creation here at Camp Wakonda!
