Ellen G. White Devotional Thought DISCIPLESHIP OF TRIAL

In the full light of day, and in hearing of the music of other voices, the caged bird will not sing the song that his master seeks to teach him. He learns a snatch of this, a trill of that, but never a separate and entire melody. But the master covers the cage, and places it where the bird will listen to the one song he is to sing. In the dark, he tries and tries again to sing that song until it is learned, and he breaks forth in perfect melody. Then the bird is brought forth, and ever after he can sing that song in the light. Thus God deals with His children. He has a song to teach us, and when we have learned it amid the shadows of affliction we can sing it ever afterward.

Many are dissatisfied with their lifework. It may be that their surroundings are uncongenial; their time is occupied with commonplace work, when they think themselves capable of higher responsibilities; often their efforts seem to them to be unappreciated or fruitless; their future is uncertain.

Let us remember that while the work we have to do may not be our choice, it is to be accepted as God's choice for us... In the future life the mysteries that here have annoyed and disappointed us will be made plain. We shall see that our seemingly unanswered prayers and disappointed hopes have been among our greatest blessings.

Leslie's Discovery

Senior Leslie Diaz has always wanted to change the world—to make a big difference for a lot of people. But Wisconsin Academy's senior mission project this spring changed her mind about that.

"I was super excited to go on this trip," said Leslie, a first-year senior from Chicago. "It's always been in my heart to do a mission project." This year, the senior class's destination was the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in South Dakota. While there, they built a porch with a ramp for a lady who could no longer manage the steps to her trailer, put up a new barbed wire fence around the mission property, chopped wood, held a nightly VBS, assisted with an evangelistic series, passed out literature in the community, and helped out wherever needed.

Leslie helped with the VBS program. Each evening, fifteen to twenty kids age 4-14 were dropped off by their parents for the hour-long program in the lower lever of the church building. On the first night, Leslie met a very quiet 13-year-old named Maurice. "One of my friends told me I should go and talk to him," she said. "So I took that as my mission to get him to talk. I didn't know how to start a conversation with him. I was thinking about trying to put myself in his position. He finally told me his name."

Some nights, when Maurice didn't come in for the program, Leslie went out and found him in his mom's van and personally invited him in. He was really upset over some things that had happened at home. "One of the church ladies told us about the problems on the reservation. About a month before we arrived, thirteen girls made a pact to commit suicide. Then two weeks before we arrived, a 6-year-old had committed suicide. Suicide is really big on the reservation. When I saw Maurice really upset, it concerned me. It was breaking my heart to see that a lot of these kids couldn't see a way out. It seemed the only way out they saw was through suicide."

So Leslie made a point of showing God's love to Maurice. "I talked to Maurice about God and his worth to God. I told him that he was created and loved by God and to keep growing and be himself." Each evening as the seniors gathered for prayer, Leslie and several of her friends prayed for Maurice.

"What people really need is Jesus," said Beth Strangstalien, a senior from Waunakee. "They need hope. And we don't have hope without Jesus. We need to go give them hope, to show

ORDINATION SPEAKER
KWON JOHNGHAENG

Pastor Kwon JohngHaeng started his ministry in 1983 at a church plant in Gwachun, Korea. He has pastored churches in Korea and in the United States. While pastoring in Chicago, Korean Union Conference sent him to the Philippines to train missionaries at the 1000 Missionary Movement in 1994.

In May of 2000, he was called by the Korean Union Conference to serve as the director of the Foreign Missions, Stewardship Ministries, and Trust Services. He has been serving in the Northern Asia-Pacific Division since July 1, 2003 as a departmental director. His current responsibilities in the division are director of Adventist Mission, Stewardship Ministries, and curator of NSD Mission Museum.

His wife, YoungSook, works for NSD as office assistant for Pioneer Mission Movement. His two sons, Myoung and Beett, are both pastors.

When asked what his hobbies are, he answers without hesitance: visiting missionaries, holding prophecy seminars, and distributing tracts.

them how to get that hope. If we want Jesus to come back, we're going to have to reach these people, too, and not be afraid."

As the week drew to a close, and the projects were finished, the time came to leave. "It was really hard saying goodbye to everybody there," said Leslie. "I do feel we made a difference. When I left, Maurice said he would miss me. I felt like we at least planted a seed. It feels great to know that Maurice knows a little more of God's love and hope than he did before I met him. Maurice and I still keep in contact. I try and call him every Friday and pray with him."

"Ever since I was little, I've always had this idea that I wanted to change the world," continued Leslie, who plans to continue her education at Southern Adventist University this fall. "This trip changed my view on that. Now I know that I might not be able to change the whole world, but helping to change one person's life can be so meaningful."

Camp Meeting 2015
BY THE NUMBERS

4 pounds of food is what the average adult eats in a day.

A blue whale can eat 8,000 pounds of food a day. And a red-throated hummingbird eats up to twice its own body weight in a day.

22 minutes is the human record for breath holding. A sperm whale can stay under water for two hours.

9 meters is the Olympic record for long jump. A jumping spider can jump 100 times its own body length - the human equivalent would be jumping the length of two jumbo jets.

Question of the Day

THE WAY I WANT TO SHINE FOR JESUS THIS YEAR IS BY...

Sandy Berg

being less self centered and kind to everyone.

Shelaine Bennett

sharing the spirit of kindness.

Alberto Jones

being more efficient with my teaching and to provide stronger spiritual lessons to my students.

Prima Glass

allowing Him to completely work through me. In everything that I will do, I want it all for Jesus, through Jesus, by Jesus. I want me to be out of the picture.

WA Provides Energy!

Following the Hallelujah Hustle, Wisconsin Academy will once again be providing cinnamon rolls for participants. After completing the Hustle, come by the Wisconsin Academy cabin around 8:00 am to enjoy a delicious, high-energy snack. WA provides a high-energy, spiritual campus where young people are led to establish their faith, build commitment to a life of Christian service, and train for success. See you at the cabin!

Holly Roy

being like Jesus in my classroom and sharing Him more with others.

Rodney Hahn

sharing Jesus and the gospel to others in a new way.

Duane Bennett

practicing compassion awareness.

Jim Lynaugh

living the Beatitudes.

Rick Binford

responding to whatever the Lord calls me to do.

Early Glow Theme

The five wise virgins knew the secret to shining. They had the oil. The oil of the Holy Spirit and His word. As our planet grows darker and we see the effects of the global "oil shortage" we can thank God that He has already given us access to the solution: Prayer! Please join us for Early Glow where we are drilling now and drilling deeper.

Sarah Hillebert & Lesa Budd are doing the early morning glow at 6:30 am in the Pioneer Chapel.
