Scripture Enigma

Four heads have I, but body none, And without any legs I run. 'Midst bliss supreme my lot was cast. And joys that could not be surpassed. Yet these delights did I forsake, And far away my course I take: Yet, while I wander far or nigh, Still ever in my bed I lie.

Getting to Know Ranko Stefanovic

Ider Ranko Stefanovic was born in Yugoslavia. At age one, his parents and one other lady became the only Seventh-day Adventists in their region. They lived under a communist government where religious people were considered to be second-class citizens. To be a Seventh-day Adventist was even worse. They were the lowest of the low.

"It was not an easy thing to be a Seventh-day Adventist," recalls Elder Stefanovic, "I was baptized when I was 15 years old. I had no Adventist friends. In Yugoslavia when you become a Seventhday Adventist you are completely different from everybody else. It is not like here where Protestants and Seventh-day Adventists have many things in common.

"I suffered much for not going to school on Sabbath. When I started secondary school they kicked me out after three months for keeping the Sabbath, even though I was their best academic student. I could not finish normal school because of that. Fortunately the General Conference made arrangements for me to go to a Seventh-day Adventist theological school in another country when I was 16. There I had to pass the secondary school exam to attend, as I had no recognized education."

In 1988 Elder Stefanovic took his MA in religion in the Philippines. At age 20 he finished school and

"I have enjoyed a very special relationships with to be with you"

"I believe that the book of Revelation has a lot to tell us about Jesus Christ. It tells us a lot about having a close relationship with Jesus Christ as we approach the end of time. That is the most important aspect of the book of Revelation. Christ is most important. Everything else comes out of that relationship with Jesus Christ."

Elder Ranko Stefanovic will be speaking each morning at 11:00am and again at 2:15pm each afternoon this week.

What Was Your First Camp Meeting Memory?

I remember as a child getting my hand stamped in kindergarten. I was nervous about washing my hands because I was afraid I wouldn't be able to get back in. Greg Edge

I remember seeing a squirrel eat cherries and being amazed how clean the pit was and how fast the cherries would be eaten. Rachel Skaife

I remember as a child being at Portage. I was stung by a bee at the water front. I also remember racing around the big square of cabins.

Brian Stephan

I remember the last year at Portage with my two young boys. We were very poor and stayed in a pup tent. We opened up cans of tomato soup cooking over a candle burner. It was heaven on earth!

Theresa Dressler

When I was seven, I remember helping build the stage. From the scraps of wood, I built Noah's ark.

Greg Taylor

When I was 8, I remember the big tents and being scared I would get lost. I was amazed there were so many kids my age in Sabbath school. Kim Taylor

I remember I was 6 years old, we camped in a tent behind the main pavilion. I also remember the storms and trying to hold our tent down from blowing over. Jim Johnson When I was 6 years old, I remember singing with my sisters. We were all dressed alike and it looked like there were thousands, and thousands, of people in the audience. We were not afraid though because we knew Jesus was with us. Linda Johnson

I remember being very small and my grandma holding me up to the sky and I was looking down at her in front of our trailer and someone was saying something about rat poison. Daric Elmer

I remember the wonderful healing balm from the pines. Coming from a Catholic background, it was wonderful to see and sense the sharing essence of a large Christian family, a spiritual healing balm as well. Sharon

I remember when I was ten, going to the South Dakota camp meeting and getting baptized in the hot springs. Aldena Syvertson

Caryn Erb is this year's new Beginners director. "I really want to reach the heart of the children while at the same time do something meaningful for families as a whole," Caryn says. What she is doing seems to be meaningful indeed.

Each day at 9:30am and at 3:30pm Caryn shares useful handouts on family living principles. "I like the handouts". Jennifer Ruden, from Wisconsin Rapids said. "As a parent, the tips are biblically based, easy to follow and I look forward to applying them to my life." Katrina Hasman felt equally appreciative. "I think the handouts are a fantastic idea. I love how they are laid out and they are very, helpful."

Tuesday handouts are Answering Your Child's Questions about the Second Coming of Jesus and Memorizing Scripture.

"I praise the Lord Caryn is doing this," says Katrina. "This entire program is so spiritual. I find myself saying 'Amen' a lot. This program is real, I just love it."

Flip-Flops

My young friend Elijah, age eight, shuffles along about six feet behind me in his new blue flip-flops. We're running late to our meeting because he couldn't find his other shoes. Every few minutes he has to stop to slide the wayward right flip-flop back between his toes.

By the time we reach our first turn, Elijah lags 25 feet behind. As I turn onto Oak Street he protests, "No! That's not the right way." I laugh and let him lead. I take his hand and we stroll, stopping frequently for him to slip that right flip-flop back on. Half way down the road he stops, pulling me back saying, "This is the wrong way."

"It's OK," I say. "We can still get there from here." But moments later he stops and insists, "This IS the wrong way!" "That's all right," I say. "I've been to lots of camp meetings and I know we can get there whichever way we go."

As we rounded the last corner, Elijah stops again, this time for his left flip-flop. It takes him a few moments to fit it back between the proper toes. Finally, he has it. He straightens up, and without a backward

70 Attend CHIP Workshop

Over 70 people attended Robyn Sandin's workshop Tuesday morning entitled, "Stalking the Killer". This was just one in a series of CHIP workshops presented each morning and afternoon in Fireside Lodge.

Dr. Sandin, a family physician, spoke about the critical role the circulatory system plays in our overall health, shared the results of multiple coronary health studies, and clearly defined terms associated with cardiovascular disease.

From Psalms, Dr. Sandin read that our bodies are "fearfully and wonderfully made". As we gain a deeper understanding of how our bodies work, we are able to assist and enhance its functioning. In regard to arteriosclerosis, one condition highlighted, she said that the disease can actually be reversed, however, lifestyle changes must be made.

Participants in this workshop came for various reasons. Some want to reduce their struggle with diabetes, others want to know how to lower their blood glance, marches into his meeting and joins the singing.

I watch and am carried back many camp meetings. I can see myself as a little, curly-haired Primary girl at Portage camp meeting. We're singing our favorite camp meeting song, "When it rains we simply let it rain at Primary camp meeting..."

May there be singing at the end of your journey too.

pressure, still others want to know how to be in better health overall. Several participants mentioned that their churches are hosting CHIP programs later this year. Josie Becker, who has been through a MicroCHIP program said, "The more times you hear this information, the better it sinks in."

Information on material and training is also available for those interested in bringing the CHIP Program to their church. Rachel Skaife
