Finding A Bold Hope for Tomorrow

Rodney Hahn, a physical therapist in Reedsburg, Wisconsin, shares his testimony.

I have never been an alcoholic, drug addict, arrested or put in jail. I am just an average guy that grew up on a farm outside LaValle, Wisconsin. When asked to write my testimony I thought, "What can I write about?"

I have been an Adventist all my life. As a child, I remember getting ready every Sabbath morning and going to church in Reedsburg with my parents. Mom was the organist and Dad was head elder. At times, I have been jealous of those who did bad things and could share how God saved them from that. But one day I read this quote by Ellen White that opened my eyes. "We have nothing to fear for the future, except as we shall forget the way the Lord has led us, and His teaching in our past history" (LS, 196). God has saved me from many bad experiences. He has answered many prayers. The difference now is I look for God's leading.

God has protected me as a teenager, in answer to my parent's prayers. He has provided me with the perfect wife, in answer to my prayers.

At times, in business ventures, I keep hitting a wall and later realize it was God saying "No" to a detrimental decision.

My wife and I have always had work. We've been able to send our two daughters on six mission trips. Both were able to study abroad. We paid for their education at Andrews University without any debt. All this was done on 90% of our income, after tithing to the Lord.

God is answering our prayers for our daughters to have God-fearing spouses. Amy is currently married to a Theology major, and Katie is dating a man with the same dream.

Sure, there are bad times, but I don't focus on them. I see how God has led and blessed me and I am astonished.

I may not have been saved from drugs or alcohol, but I have been saved from my sins. With that, I can go boldly forward with what He has in store for me and my family.

Early Adventist Meeting House

On the winding path from center camp to Pioneer Pavilion, the Pioneer Chapel is under construction. This chapel is similar in style and size to many early Adventist meeting houses, with separate doors for men and women, straight back pews, and hanging oil lamps. The program guide lists times when historic stories and reenactments are to be held here. Thank you SAGE for all your work!

BIBLE ENIGMA 1

Kevin Wilkinson

BIBLE ENIGMA 2

I kept him in suspense, that very odd apostle/And with my task completed, he didn't jump or jostle/There's a million other duties that would have been more fun/than hang out with a turncoat 'til his hanging out was done

Forerunner of Camp Meetings

In 1867 leaders wondered, would people be willing to camp for a week for a general meeting of all believers? Elders Andrews and Blanchard decided to give it a try, and Elder Sanborn offered his cow pasture east of Janesville.

The REVIEW notice read, "See to it that the enemy does not cheat you out of attending this gathering of the saints...We expect to pitch a large tent... and would like to see forty tents around it. Eight yards of factory will make a tent fifteen feet long, nine feet wide, with a wall six feet high...Such a tent will not cost more than $16."

The first camp meeting experiment ever, opened September 17, 1867. Twelve families pitched tents, while others stayed in nearby homes. Uriah Smith and James and Ellen White were the visiting speakers, gathering a crowd of 1,200 on Sunday. Years later Elder W. C. White labeled this Wisconsin camp meeting "the forerunner of camp meetings."
