Sharing Hope in a Dark Place

I gave my heart to God when I was about 12. I have always loved to attend summer camps, and each year I attended, I was blessed, but I just didn't feel ready to completely commit my heart to the Lord. One Friday night, after watching a staff skit at family camp about the great controversy, I realized how much I really needed a Savior. I started Bible studies with Pastor Lisa Isensee and the next summer I was baptized during camp meeting. I will never forget the joy of knowing I had accepted Jesus into my life.

After being baptized, I had a burden to share with others the joy I experienced in my new walk with God. After serious prayer, I joined the Youth for Jesus (YFJ) program associated with (Adventist-Laymen's Services and Industries.) Youth for Jesus is a month-long youth evangelism program that teaches youth how to give Bible studies, conduct evangelistic series, and do every-day witnessing. That was one of the best summers of my life. I made incredible friendships and learned so many new ways to share Jesus. The highlight of the summer was watching three of my Bible study contacts baptized, and the excitement I felt at being able to have an influential part in leading them to Christ.

After Youth for Jesus, I came home and started public school. It was a culture shock since I had been previously homeschooled and just had an amazing spiritual experience at YFJ. My time at YFJ taught me to be unashamed of the gospel. Now I have had many opportunities to witness to the kids at school and even to some of my teachers.

My sister, Bethany, and I started a Bible Study group with twenty-plus kids. We meet in a Christian math teacher's room before school every Monday morning. We sing, pray for each other, and study God's Word together.

I praise the Lord every day that I have been given the opportunity to be a light in a dark place. As I continue on my Christian walk, I am excited at what God has planned for me next. No matter what happens, I know He has amazing plans, and I want to be used wherever He sees fit to place me.

"For the Lord gives wisdom; from His mouth come knowledge and understanding. He holds success in store for the upright, He is a shield to those whose walk is blameless."
Proverbs 2:6,7

Youth and Age Work Together

Isaiah, Enoch, and Levi Frey, of the Wisconsin Rapids Church, along with their friend Eli Quartullo, asked if they could help the maintenance crew with work around camp this week. "It's fun to work and we want to help," explained Isaiah, as he helped spread gravel in washed-out ruts. Veteran volunteer Shorty Mundt said, "I feel honored these young guys want to work with an old guy like me."

A Heritage of Camp Meetings

Myrtle Delay, born in Milton, WI, is a great-granddaughter of early Adventist pioneer Ole Olson, president at age 29 of the WI Conference. "I've attended every WI camp meeting since I was 6 months old," says Myrtle. She remembers as a youth going up and down the streets inviting community people to the meetings each night at Portage camp meeting. "Camp meeting is like a yearly spiritual bath."

BY THE NUMBERS

60 gallons of ice cream have been consumed so far during camp meeting at the snack bar.

Miracle in Door Country

In 1920, Eliza Bisbee sold literature in Door County. She usually traveled afoot, but at delivery time she rented a horse and buggy. Near the close of a full day, she was carrying a large amount of cash, but could not find a place for the night.

For a moment, she panicked. Several people in the area had been robbed while traveling after dark, but the feeling passed as she prayed and remembered she was doing the Lord's work.

Heading home through a swampland, a wagon completely blocked the road. On and about the wagon were several men. As she neared the roadblock, a man stepped up from the swamp, silently took her horse by the bridle and led her around the blocking wagon. She looked back at the men on the blocking wagon and they seemed frozen in their places. She looked again toward the man leading her horse. He was gone.

Arriving home her friend said, "I have been praying for you today. I felt that you might be in danger."

Question of the Day

WHAT DOES SABBATH MEAN TO YOU?

Sarah Hillebert

It's a day to rest in the fact that God loves me, created me and provides salvation for me because I'm someone He enjoys. How can you not worship a God like that?

John Ramsey

The Sabbath is a "reset" button that reminds you about what is really important in life: God and family.

Deb Folkman

Sabbath is a time of physical, mental and spiritual healing. It's also my date with God.

Begin the Day With Prayer

Jan Lanaville, Middleton Fellowship member, has attended the 6:00 am Early Glow meeting for years. "It's just a special time," says Jan. "Thirty to 50 of us begin the week praying on the Pioneer Pavilion platform for everyone! Through the week we learn, share promises, and testimonies of God's leading. I wouldn't miss it." Early Glow is led daily by conference prayer coordinators Greg and Lesa Budd.

Juanita Edge

Michael Ehm

This is my special date day with my Daddy.

Bessie Kmiecik

Time with the one who loves me the most. Time to shut the cares of the world out. A whole 24 hours to refresh and recreate with your Creator.

John Henri Rorabeck

Rest, nature hikes, and disconnecting from the world.

Jan Lanaville

A very special time God gave to lay our burdens down and get closer to Him and fellowship.

One More Answered Prayer

Sandi Schelk, of Green Bay Church, lost her wheel chair speed control button while driving across camp. Charles Castleberg, of the Wausau Church, retraced her steps, asking God to help him find it. As he passed by the administration building, there was the button in a crack in the path. This is just one of many answers to prayer this week. Remember to thank God for the little miracles in your life.
