From the Word

"In the morning sow your seed, and in the evening do not withhold your hand; for you do not know which will prosper, or whether both alike will be good."

Ecclesiastes 10:20

Maly's Story

Maly Vang is a junior on the campus of Wisconsin Academy (W.A.). She is the first Christian believer in her family, and was baptized into the Seventh-day Adventist church by W.A. Chaplain Jimmy Carter, on April 12, 2013.

"I was not raised a Christian," said Maly, one of 10 children born into a dedicated Animist Hmong family living in Milwaukee. "Looking back, all that happened in the past few years was kinda crazy. But now I know God was leading in everything."

Maly's sister and cousin met a friendly lady walking a dog in the park one day. They stopped to pet the dog and visited for 10-15 minutes. At one point Maly's sister expressed her desire to go camping, as she had never done that. The friendly lady, Nelda Womack of Milwaukee Central Church, offered to send them to summer camp and the girls got excited. "When they came home and told us they had given our address to a complete stranger, we thought they were crazy," said Maly. "She could have been some psycho lady. But we figured we would never hear from her."

Soon, however, the lady did show up with food and clothes for the family and an offer to send the kids to camp for a week. The whole camping idea seemed strange to Maly's parents, and they felt the girls were too young. However, Nelda Womack didn't stop coming. Over the next year she visited several times, bringing needed items for the family, and even having them over to her home, which wasn't far away. The next year, when Nelda offered to send the girls to camp again, Maly's parents said yes.

Arriving at Camp Wakonda, Maly didn't know what to expect. Standing in the registration line, she made eye contact several times with a girl ahead of her in line. That girl, Karin Sokolies, ended up in the same cabin as Maly and they soon became best friends. "I could ask Karin anything," said Maly, "about vespers, Sabbath, anything."

As Maly got involved in camp activities and listened to the worships and evening programs, she found herself believing what she heard about this God. "It made a very big impact on me," said Maly. "Everything just came together and I believed it."

After camp Maly thought, "I'll never see these people again." Then Nelda invited Maly to visit church and what a surprise awaited her. Karin, her best friend from camp was there!

Peace

As I write today, our world looks pretty troubled: our government is in partial shutdown as elected officials argue over spending; over a hundred die in an Indian temple stampede, and people are still heaving rockets at each other in the Middle East.

If we keep our eyes focused on events happening around us there are plenty of reasons to be sad and pessimistic. But listen to this antidote to despondency by Ellen White:

"Those who take Christ at His word, and surrender their souls to His keeping, their lives to His ordering, will find peace and quietude. Nothing of the world can make them sad when Jesus makes them glad by His presence." DA 331

As our lives are united with Christ, our outlook changes. Sadness is exchanged for gladness. While the world is falling apart around us, we can have the peace that Isaiah proclaimed. "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee: because he trusteth in Thee." Isaiah 26:3

Do you remember as a child walking in the dark? If you were alone it was scary and lonely. Every stump looked sinister. Every shadow brought fear. However, if Dad was along, that same walk was fun. Dad didn't have to do anything, just be there.

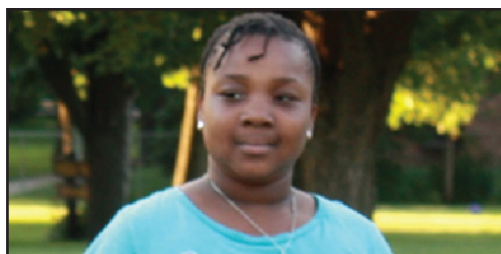

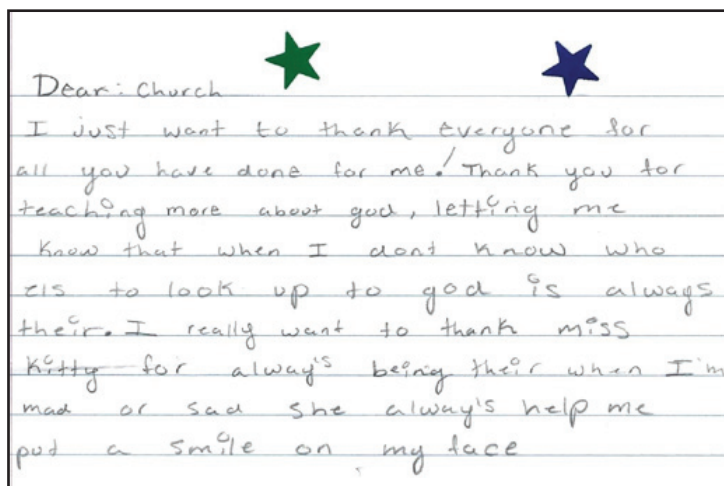

Friends, we can have Dad along. The great God of the universe is willing to be with us, and as we trust Him, He will transform our lives from worry and sadness, to peace and gladness.

Jesus said: "My peace I give unto you... Let not your heart be troubled..." John 14:27. Let's take Christ at His word and experience the peace He offers.

Madison Community VBS Affects Young Lives

A young girl (left) has faithfully attended the Madison Vacation Bible School (VBS) for years. On the final day of VBS this year, she shared a note with Kitty Crary (above). VBS leader, Tammy Elmer said, "There are days I've wondered if the stress and work of preparing a yearly VBS is worth it. But now I say, 'Is it worth it? A thousand times, yes!'"

Maly visited church as often as she could and attended camp every summer. One summer before high school, her counselor, Lisa Cunningham, told stories of what it was like at Wisconsin Academy. "I knew I probably couldn't go," said Maly, "and my parents would never agree, but I thought it would be so cool."

A few weeks before Maly's freshman year she received a letter inviting her to come to W.A.; she suddenly felt very strongly that God wanted her to go. Nelda supported her idea, and after many prayers and a series of miracles, Maly found herself enrolled at W.A.

The next summer at camp, when Pastor Greg Taylor made a call to accept Jesus on Friday night, Maly, with tears in her eyes, walked up front. "I wanted more than anything to give my heart to Jesus," she said.

Back at W.A. again, Maly met regularly with chaplain Jimmy Carter for Bible studies. She thought of waiting until age 18 to be baptized, fearing her parents would not understand this decision. "But when the studies ended," said Maly, "I felt God telling me to not wait any longer. We picked a date, April 12, 2013, and after a lot of prayer, my parents agreed. My mom and four sisters came to my baptism."

"I am the first and only Adventist in my family at this point," says Maly. "I feel so blessed. It seems God has always put the right people in my life at the right time."

Maly's favorite verse in the Bible is Joshua 1:9, "Be strong and of good courage; do not be afraid, nor dismayed, for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go."

Changes in the ABC

In 1996 the Pacific Press purchased our Wisconsin ABC operation. It had become increasingly difficult to run a financially viable ABC and we were thankful that Pacific Press was willing to step in. We received a letter, October 2, stating the Pacific Press voted to discontinue operation of all their ABC's, and that the current system of distribution is unsustainable in light of the changing patterns of accessing information today. Pacific Press will determine the timing for closing the ABC. Wisconsin Conference administration is looking into possible solutions for the year-round store and camp meeting.

Shawano Church Moves to Local Historic Village

The 113-year-old Shawano Adventist Church was sold, then later donated to the Shawano County Historical Society as part of a historical village project. Plans are to restore the church to its original condition and use it for weddings and memorials. Channel 2 News aired the story all day, July 30, 2013, as local church members escorted the building in historic dress during its 1-1/2 mile relocation.

The church was in use by the Adventists from 1938 -2013. Commenting on the final Adventist service held in the building, head elder Allen Heling said, "Lots of feelings were shared of what happened over the last 40-50 years."

With the sale of the historic church, Shawano members were able to purchase a newer building that is larger, all on one level, and has easy access. It is located at W7312 Cherry Ave. The new church grand opening is scheduled for November 16, 2013.

Merriam-Webster Dictionary defines stewardship as "the careful and responsible management of something entrusted to one's care."

As Seventh-day Adventist Christians, we have tended toward a limited definition which mainly includes the paying of tithes and offerings. Psalms 50:12 expands this narrow perspective when it says, "...All the world is mine and everything in it." This verse makes it clear what God is! He is the Sovereign Landlord of the entire universe and, as such, He has lovingly entrusted us with managing His accounts—i.e. protecting and honoring His ownership interests.

But just as the King of Kings is unlike any earthly king—which is to say that He doesn't plunder and pillage His own subjects—God, as Cosmic Landlord, is diametrically opposite of any earthly landlord. Unlike all the landlords we know, God isn't primarily concerned with the rent that is His due.

No, this Great Landlord wants to be in an intimate relationship with His tenants; He wants to guide and care for us like a Father cares for his children; He wants to lead us and protect us like a Shepherd leads His flock. And He doesn't want us to sullenly sign over our "rent check" every month. He wants us to give, with joy, as an outpouring of our gratitude to Him and as a tangible demonstration of our love and devotion. What He really wants is what He would never, as King of Kings or Sovereign Landlord, demand of us! He wants our hearts!

Good stewardship doesn't begin with our wallets, it begins with our hearts! Once we have made a sincere and complete heart offering to our Lord, we will give joyfully and generously of our time, talents, and money.

As stewardship director, I will continue to preach the "Stewardship of the Heart" message throughout the Wisconsin Conference.

Jeff Metherell
Stewardship Director

I Samuel 16:7

How to Share the Gospel and Help Your Church Grow

"If we could just get Mark Finley as our pastor, then we would grow." "If we could just get Doug Bachelor here in Wisconsin, then we would grow." The God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob has seen fit to bless His church with amazingly talented people like Finley and Bachelor, but He delights to grow His church with common people like you and me.

1 Peter 2:9 says, "But you are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, His own special people, that you may proclaim the praises of Him who called you out of darkness into His marvelous light." 2 Corinthians 2:9 says, "And He said to me, 'My grace is sufficient for you, for My strength is made perfect in weakness.'" In light of this truth, Paul added, "Therefore most gladly I will rather boast in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me." The amazing truth of Scripture is that God grows His church using people who, in their own eyes, are flawed, frightened, and failing.

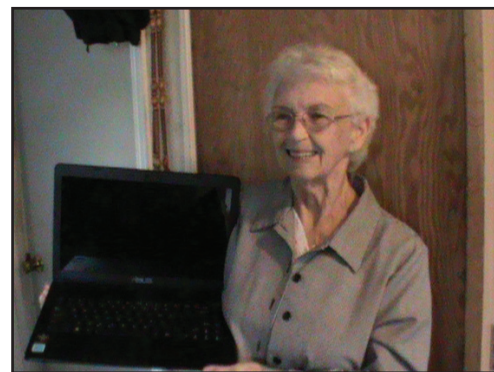

ShareHim evangelism can be used in large public evangelistic meetings, or at home around a kitchen table to bring wonderful presentations to interested people. In January of 2013, pastors in the Wisconsin Conference offered their church members an amazing deal – if they were willing, the conference would purchase for them a new computer and a flatscreen monitor so that they could do ShareHim evangelism. As of this October 1, the conference has given out 55 computers with requests for 10 more! And the God of Heaven is doing miracles! God is growing His church through common men and women who do uncommon things by His Spirit.

Would you like to be part of a growing team for a coming Christ? Contact your pastor. Your pastor has been authorized to train and approve you for ShareHim outreach, and it can happen quickly! You can be the next one in whom God's strength is made perfect in weakness. All you have to do is try.

James Fox
Ministerial/Evangelism Director

Judy Dant (right) of Fox Valley Church, has held two ShareHim meetings with her new free computer from the conference. Karen Eiting (left) is one of two people who have been baptized recently through this program. "I have a real burden for souls and I'm trying to reach out to as many as I can," said Dant. "This ShareHim computer is another way to reach out."

Alice Rasmussen of Prairie du Chien Church was trained in outreach at Camp Wakonda. One Monday morning she asked her pastor when she might receive her computer. She was shocked when he gave it to her the following Wednesday night. She is already inviting friends to her home to hear the Word.

The students of Maranatha Elementary school were excited when offered the chance to preach a ShareHim evangelistic meeting in the town of Crivitz. The kids studied their Bibles, planned, edited each others work and gained confidence in their ability to preach and use a computer. From 20-48 people attended nightly, and many expressed a desire to grow closer to Jesus. "The students have impacted many people with the need to head back to the scriptures and know what the Bible has to say," said teacher Rosanna Zeismer. "They planted seeds for those whose lives are dusty and parched, and they watered those who faithfully serve."

3. Turn in your miles weekly or monthly to the Wisconsin conference through your local Pathfinder, school, or church Walk-for-Life leader. You may also submit them directly on the Walk-for-Life web page at wi.adventist.org.

Also find a mile equivalency chart, record sheet, poster and more on the Walk-for-Life web page at wi.adventist.org.

Fifth and Sixth Graders Learn in God's Creation

Need clean drinking water and only have a lake from which to get it? Got charcoal, sand, and grass? Ask an Outdoor Education student how to create a filter to make lake water safe for drinking.

Enthusiastic fifth and sixth grade students from around the conference arrived at Camp Wakonda September third, ready to meet nature head-on at Outdoor Education. What made the next few days a memorable event? New experiences, good food, lively music, inspirational worships, creative outdoor classes, a camp fire, a night walk, and a favorite game of glow-light capture the flag. Imagine students lying on their backs looking at the night sky watching satellites passing by and seeing star constellations not visible in the city night sky. These activities contributed to great learning experiences and fun memories.

Outdoor Education is a popular program among fifth and sixth graders. Opportunities for students to experience God's creation, see Him as the Master artist, scientist, mathematician and more were provided by teachers and volunteers dedicated to teaching lessons in nature's classroom.

Valuable lessons are learned through nature experiences and the application of concepts learned in the classroom. Jesus Himself used examples from the outdoors to illustrate spiritual applications. Some lessons really are better taught in the great out-of-doors.

Gina Campos New Spanish Teacher at W.A.

Gina Campos is teaching Spanish I and II, basketball, and gymnastics at Wisconsin Academy this year. Campos, a junior at Southern Adventist University, is studying Elementary Education and Psychology.

She has worked in Wisconsin over the past two summers giving leadership to the Milwaukee Magabook ministry, and plans to lead the program again next summer.

"I have a passion for literature ministry and youth ministry," says Campos. "This spring, when I recruited at W.A. for students to work with Magabooks, I was asked if I would consider teaching Spanish here this year. I'm glad I came. It has been good practice in teaching, which is what God has called me to do, and so far I've really enjoyed it."

In her free time, Campos enjoys basketball, soccer, reading, playing guitar, and being in nature.

Benjamin Baugher New Maintenance Assistant at Wisconsin Academy

Benjamin Baugher, of Sheridan, Illinois, is currently working as assistant to the Maintenance Director at Wisconsin Academy this year.

After graduating from Wisconsin Academy in 2009, Baugher attended community college and obtained his residential certificate in Heating, Ventilation and Air Conditioning (HVAC). Soon after, he enrolled at Union College, in Nebraska, where he is currently a senior Physics major. He hopes to someday be able to work in the energy fields.

"Part of the reason I am a Seventh-day Adventist today is because of what my time here at Wisconsin Academy did for me," said Baugher. "It was really good for me, and I hope by working here this year I can give back a little. I love Wisconsin Academy. There is no place I'd rather be than here right now."

For recreation, Baugher enjoys paint ball, camping, helping with Pathfinders, and fixing things.

Marly Grant New Bible Worker in Milwaukee

Marly Grant began work as a full time Bible worker in the Berlin and Milwaukee Central churches in October of this year. Previously she worked as a local-hire Bible worker for the Baraboo and Oxford churches. Born in Haiti, Grant moved to the United States with her parents when she was 10 years old.

Three years ago, Grant had a dream that changed her life. In her dream, she heard a voice say, "How would you like to be a Bible worker?" She remembered hearing about a Bible worker once in Chicago. Then the voice said, "Do you want to work AM or PM?" She thought of her five children and immediately said, "PM." The voice went on to tell her she would get paid minimum wage and that she should get trained in Wisconsin.

Awaking from her dream, she thought, "Wow! I just had a live interview with God." She immediately called the Wisconsin conference office and, after a series of events, found herself studying in Steven's Point at Midwest. When finished with the Midwest Bible school, she had several calls to work in other states, but felt at peace staying in Wisconsin. Grant has spent the past two years working in Baraboo and Oxford.

"It's a thrill to see people accepting Christ," says Grant. "And when someone says they want to be baptized! Oh, boy! That's another thrill. I want to help train other people to do this kind of work. It is so fulfilling. Giving Bible studies has improved my prayer life and increased my faith. I know God called me to this work, and I want to help others to do it too. It's simply amazing!"

When Grant has a little free time, she enjoys working-out at a health gym. She has five children Evette, Daniel, Benjamin, Joshua, and Abagale.

Patricia Latiker New Teacher in Milwaukee

Patricia Latiker is teaching fifth grade at Milwaukee Adventist School this year. Latiker retired from teaching a year ago, and was substitute teaching for the Milwaukee school, when Ken Smith, the school principal, told her a full time position was available.

"The Holy Spirit told me it just wasn't time to retire yet," said Latiker. "I am very thankful and happy to be teaching in Christian education again. I want to do all I can to help the children."

Latiker received her education at the University of Wisconsin: Milwaukee, specializing in English and Social Studies. During her junior year, she learned about the Adventist message and gave her heart to the Lord. She has since taught at Milo Academy in Chicago, Sharon Adventist School in Milwaukee, and served as a counselor and teacher for the public school system.

Latiker's husband, Joe, is a retired welder. They have one adult daughter, Lydia, and one granddaughter. In her free time, Latiker enjoys reading, exercising, visiting the sick, and giving Bible studies.

FINANCIAL UPDATE

We have reached that time of the year when we once again begin working on next year's budget. We praise the Lord that we currently have a 2.79% increase in tithe through September of this year. Wisconsin Budget is experiencing an 8.31% decrease for the year.

The budget will, as usual, be a challenge to balance for 2014. Next year's budget will need to include additional funding for rising healthcare fees related to the Affordable Care Act as well as provision for our 36th constituency session to be held October 5, 2014.

An additional challenge we see ahead is what will become of the Adventist Book Center, in light of Pacific Press's announcement of their desire to discontinue the operations of the ABC's which they own. We are actively working on viable alternatives for both the store space at the Conference office, as well as what we will do at camp meeting for a store.

We are also looking into the DNR mandated update of the wastewater treatment system at Wisconsin Academy. Various options and systems are being considered.

While things continue to change around us I am thankful we have a God who never changes.

Thank-you for your prayers and continued faithfulness as we seek to do the Lord's will to move the work forward here in Wisconsin.

Brian Stephan
Secretary/Treasurer
