Do You Love Me?

Titus Naftanaila, President

This past week has been a real blessing for all here at Camp Wakonda. I have been pleased to observe the excitement of all participants in reconnecting with old friends and family members and establishing new connections that will last for a long time. We have been hungry to meet with one another and spend precious time sharing our stories and personal experiences.

But the camp meeting is more than an opportunity for fellowship and interpersonal interactions. It is more about worshipping and listening to God's messages for a time like this. The high degree of participation in the seminars and worship services demonstrated our desire for spiritual revival and transformation. We came here to recommit our lives to God and leave with a new desire to represent Him in our specific contexts.

The theme of this camp meeting was "Do You Love Me?" After His resurrection, Jesus asked Peter if he loved Him. The disciple had to express his love and loyalty to his Master as a sign of genuine conversion and requalification for ministry.

"The question that Christ had put to Peter was significant. He mentioned only one condition of discipleship and service. "Do You Love Me?" This is the essential qualification. Though Peter might possess every other quality, yet without the love of Christ he could not be a faithful shepherd over the Lord's flock. Knowledge, benevolence, eloquence, gratitude, and zeal are all aids in the good work; but without the love of Jesus in the heart, the work of the Christian minister is a failure" (DA 815.2).

Also, Ellen White reiterates the main reason Jesus questioned Peter about his love for Him. "Before being called to take up again his apostolic work, he must before them all give evidence of his repentance. Without this, his sin, though repented of, might have destroyed his influence as a minister of Christ. The Savior gave him opportunity to regain the confidence of his brethren, and, so far as possible, to remove the reproach he had brought upon the gospel" (DA 814.2).

I am grateful to all our guest speakers in the pavilion or different divisions who incorporated our theme in a beautiful and complementary way. We have been enriched by various perspectives and applications related to discipleship and spiritual transformation. Our relationship with God, based on our love and respect for Him, will determine and shape our responsibility to share the Good News with others.

STORY CONTINUED...

Our mission is evident when we return to our homes, churches, and communities. We need to demonstrate that we have uniquely been with Jesus. The way we practice spiritual disciplines such as prayer, reflective Bible study, and personal and corporate worship, will contribute to the individual and collective revival and reformation.

We need to continue our discipleship process and create an environment of growth for transformation for our children, youth, and everyone else. Church members and guests must find our churches as a greenhouse for spiritual development.

I am grateful to our pastors, staff, musicians, and many volunteers who sacrificed precious time and energy to contribute to a successful camp meeting. Camp Wakonda has always existed and continues to function only based on the generous gifts of time and resources that we all have given.

Ultimately, I am grateful to God for His grace and protection during this time. May He bless all of you until we meet again. Maranatha!

Question of the Day

WHAT MESSAGE WILL YOU BE TAKING HOME?

I was impressed once more about how gently Jesus restored Peter after his fall. Also, I liked when Jesus invited him, "Follow me." We don't need to worry about anything, just follow Jesus and He will take care of everything.

Christ is coming soon. I need to spend more time in prayer and strive to follow God's plan, so I can discern His will and be sensitive to the Holy Spirit.
